

Dr John Anderson is Deputy Head of the Newcastle Law School at the University of Newcastle. John currently lectures in various courses, including Trial Process, Criminal Law and Procedure, Advanced Criminal Law and Evidence. He has a strong research interest in sentencing and related criminal justice issues. Life sentences for murder was the subject of his PhD research and he has a continuing focus on issues of equity and fairness in sentencing research.